

Sarah Browne
The Gift

Sarah Browne lives in Kildare and has recently completed her studies in Dublin, Krakow and Cyprus. She has worked on a variety of community and collaborative projects. The sofas on display are from a project where several others were re-upholstered in new patterns and given to people as gifts. A video was then made discussing the gift with each of the recipients. The sofas are a go-between for the artist and individuals who would not normally buy or have contact with art. These people have kindly lent their art-sofa to the exhibition, where they have been displayed as traditional sculptural objects despite the fact that they are really records of a social interaction.
